CHAPTER XXVII.

TRINITY COLLEGE, THE COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS, AND PROVINCIAL MEDICAL SCHOOLS.

In concluding this History I have thought it desirable to give a brief account of the Medical Schools connected with Trinity College and the College of Physicians, the Queen's Colleges and Provincial Institutions, in order that the reader may become acquainted with the complete educational resources of the Irish School of Medicine. To give biographical sketches of the teachers connected with those schools would unduly extend the limits of this work; many of them, however, having been Presidents or Professors of the College of Surgeons or teachers in the private schools, have been mentioned in connection with those institutions.

THE SCHOOL OF PHYSIC.

An account of the origin of the School of Physic will be found at pages 108 to 110 inclusive. As at present constituted, it consists of the amalgamated medical schools of Trinity College and the College of Physicians, with the addition of several new Professorships. The College of Physicians elect the Professors of the Practice of Medicine, the Institutes of Medicine, Midwifery, and Materia Medica, the remaining Professors are elected by the Board of Trinity College, who claim to be the sole managers of the School.

In the first edition of this History a list of the Professors in Trinity College Medical School was given. It was taken from the College Calendar, but it was pointed out that a revision of the interesting record was desirable, as the name of Professor Leahy was omitted from it. This revision has been admirably carried out by Dr. T. Percy C. Kirkpatrick.*

The following list, slightly condensed, of Professors is taken from his valuable History of the Medical School of Trinity College:—

"Medicus."—John Temple, 1618; Thomas Beere, 1620; John Stearne, 1651; George Walker, 1669; William Palliser, 1670; George Mercer 1671 dispossessed of Fellowship on being married; Owen Lloyd, 1687; Jeremiah Allen, no date; Arthur Blennerhassett, 1688; Wm. Carr, 1693; John Dinins, 1699; Anthony Raymond, 1700; Wm. Lloyd, no date: Richard Helsham, 1706-7; Edward Hudson, 1729-30; Edward Molloy, 1730; William Clements, 1733; Whitley Stokes, 1789; John Toleken, 1837.

Lecturers in Anatomy.—Richard Hoyle, 1711; Bryan Robinson, 1716; Richard Hoyle, re-elected 1717; Thomas Madden, 1739; Francis Foreside, 1734; Robert Robinson, 1741-2; George Cleghorn, 1761 to 1785.

Professors of Anatomy and Chirurgery.—George Cleghorn, 1788; James Cleghorn, 1790; William Hartigan, 1802; James Macartney, 1813; Robert Harrison, 1837; Benjamin George MacDowell, 1858; Alexander Macalister, 1879; Daniel John Cunningham, 1883; Andrew Francis Dixon, 1903.

University Anatomists.—William Green, 1716; Vesey Shaw, 1733; George Whittingham, 1743; George Cleghorn, 1753-61;

* Created a baronet subsequent to election.
John K. Barton, 1861; Edward H. Bennett, 1864; Thomas Evelyn Little, 1873; Henry St. John Brooks, 1891; Charles B. Ball, 1895.

Lecturers in Chemistry.—Robert Griffith, 1711; Wm. Smith, 1717; William Stephens, 1732; Francis Hutchison, 1760; James Span, 1767; James Thornton, 1773; Robert Perceval, 1785; James Craig, 1849; Leahy, 1841; Banks, 1872; Brereton, 1879.

Professors of Chemistry.—Robert Perceval, 1785; Francis Barker, 1809; James Apjohn, 1850; J. Emerson Reynolds, 1875; Sydney Young, 1903.

Lecturers on Botany.—Henry Nicholson, 1711; Chas. Chemeks, 1732-3; William Clements, 1733; James Span, 1763; Edward Hill, 1773.

Professors of Botany.—Ed. Hill, 1785; Robert Scotti, 1800; William Allman, 1809; George James Allman, 1844; William Henry Harvey, 1856; Alexander Dickson, 1866; E. Perceval Wright, 1869; Henry Horatio Dixon, 1904.

Professors of Surgery.—Robert W. Smith, 1849; Edward H. Bennett, 1873; Edward Henry Taylor, 1906, and as deputy 1904.

Lecturers in Zoology.—Robert Harrison, 1856; E. Perceval Wright, 1868; Alexander Macalister, 1869; William Henry Mackintosh, 1879.

Professors of Comparative Anatomy.—Alexander Macalister, 1872; William Henry Mackintosh, 1879.

Professors of Zoology and Comparative Anatomy.—William Henry Mackintosh, 1895.

Lecturers on Medical Jurisprudence.—Thomas Brady, 1839; Robert Travers, 1864; Henry Theodore Bewley, 1888.

King's Professors of Practice of Medicine.—Robert Griffith, 1717; James Grattan, 1719; Henry Quin, 1749; Edward Breerton, 1780; Stephen Dickson, 1792; Whitley Stokes, 1798; Martin Tuomy, 1812; Richard Grattan, 1828; John James Leahy, 1829; Charles R. A. Lendrick, 1832; George Greene, 1841; John Creery Ferguson, 1846; John Thomas Banks, 1849; William Moore, 1868; John Magee Finny, 1882; James Craig, 1910.

Professor of Surgery and Midwifery.—Sir Nathaniel Barry, 1749.

King's Professors of Materia Medica and Pharmacy.—Constantine Barbor, 1749; Edmund Cullen, 1786; John Crampton, 1804; Jonathan Osborne, 1849; Aquilla Smith, 1864; Walter G. Smith, 1881.

King's Professors of Institutes of Medicine.—Stephen Dickson, 1786; John William Boyton, 1792; William Stack, 1826; Robert James Graves, 1827; Robert Law, 1841; John Mallet Purser, 1874; William Henry Thompson, 1902.

Lecturer in Pathology.—Alexander Charles O'Sullivan, 1895.

In 1906 an agreement was suggested between Trinity College and the College of Physicians to dissolve their connection as regards the School of Physic. The Professors elected by the College of Physicians to be in future appointed by Trinity College. The £400 per annum at the disposal of the former College, payable to the King's Professors, to be divided equally between the Colleges. The revenue derived from Sir Patrick Dun's estate (about £1,000 per annum) to be divided equally between the College of Physicians and Sir Patrick Dun's Hospital. Up to the present this agreement has not been realised, to accomplish which the repeal of the School of Physic Act is necessary.

The School buildings have been for several years past steadily improved and enlarged, and at present they can compare favourably with any similar structures in any part of Europe.

In 1800 there were only 22 students in the School of Physic, and in the first decade of the Nineteenth Century the average number was 53. In the next decade the number rose to 114. In the next ten years the average annual number was 213. From 1834 there was a great decrease in the number of Medical students for many years. In 1838 the number was only 81. After 1864 the number steadily increased, and has never gone below 240.

The interests of the Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons are practically identical. Their incomes are chiefly derived from the fees of students examined conjointly by the two bodies. United for examinational purposes, why not combine for educational purposes and convert the College Schools into a Medico-Surgical School under joint management of the Colleges?

THE MEDICAL SCHOOLS OF THE QUEEN’S COLLEGES.

In 1849 there were established medical schools in the recently-constituted Queen’s Colleges in Belfast, Cork, and Galway. Parliament provided grants for their maintenance and for the salaries of their Professors. They were all connected with the Queen’s University, and every candidate for a medical degree in the latter was obliged to study during at least one annus medicus in one of the Queen’s Colleges. On the replacement of the Queen’s, by the Royal University, this condition ceased to exist, and probably the medical schools of these Colleges have thereby suffered serious injury. The newly established National University requires instruction to be taken out in one of the Colleges, attached to it which now include the Cork and Galway Colleges.

MEDICAL SCHOOLS, CORK

SCHOOL OF ANATOMY, CORK.

In 1812 John Woodroffe (see page 837), established a Dissecting Room in Cove Street, Cork. In 1828, the examinations for the Letters Testimonial of the College being no longer limited to apprentices, Certificates of Attendances at Lectures came at once into great demand. The Dissecting Room was converted into a School, in Warren’s Place, and in 1828 the following were its staff:

Anatomy and Physiology.—John Woodroffe, M.D.
Surgery.—Edward Richard Townsend, M.D. Edin., L.R.C.S.I.
Medicine.—Charles Yelverton Haines, M.D. Edin., M.R.C.S.I.
Materia Medica.—Henry B. Evanson, M.D. Dubl.
Botany.—Thomas Taylor, M.D. Edin., M.R.C.S.L.

SCHOOL OF ANATOMY, MEDICINE, AND SURGERY, WARREN’S PLACE.

A School was formed in Cork in 1835, but the College at first refused recognition of it, but in 1836 the premises objected to having been much improved, recognition was granted.

The School had all necessary appliances, provided at the expense of Dr. Wherland, the teacher of anatomy. About ninety pupils attended this School, in which the following gentlemen lectured:—Denis C. O’Connor, M.B. Dubl., L.R.C.S.I.; George Read M’Mullen, M.D. Glasg., M.R.C.S.I.; Daniel Knight Lloyd, M.B. Dubl., on Medicine; Daniel Sweeney M.B. Dubl. Univ., M.R.C.S.L., on Chemistry; James Richard Wherland, M.D. Glasg., L.R.C.S.I., on Anatomy and Physiology; John Popham, M.B. Dubl., M.R.C.S.L., on Midwifery; Dr. Neligan, L.R.C.S.I., and George Atkins Rountree, M.R.C.S.L., on Materia Medica and Medical Botany; Thomas G. Gregg, M.D. Glasg., M.R.C.S.L., on Forensic Medicine.

The School was closed in 1844.

THE “RECOGNISED SCHOOL OF MEDICINE,” CORK.

A Medical School was established in 1828 on the South Mall, Cork, by Henry Augustus Caesar. Its certificates were received by the College at an earlier date than were those issued from Woodroffe's School, hence Caesar termed his institution the MEDICAL SCHOOL, BELFAST

"Cork Recognised School." After the extinction of Woodroffe's School, Cesar's was termed the Cork School of Medicine. It continued in existence after the establishment of the Medical School of the Queen's College, and was not closed until 1858. There lectured in this School the following gentlemen:

- Anatomy and Physiology.—H. A. Cesar, M.D. Edin., M.R.C.S.I.
- Physiology and Pathology.—John Popham, M.B.
- Surgery.—Christopher Aldworth Bull, M.B. Dubl., L.R.C.S.I.
- William Kearns Tanner, M.D.

Midwifery.—Eugene Finn, M.B. Dubl.; Timothy Curtin, M.D., Edin.; William Christopher Townsend, M.R.C.S.L.; William J. Cummins, M.D.

Medical Jurisprudence.—John Francis M'Evers, M.R.C.S.L.

Botany.—Thomas Power, M.D. Edin.

Chemistry and Pharmacy.—William Christopher Townsend, M.R.C.S.L.

Natural History and Comparative Anatomy.—Thomas Crofts Shinkwin, M.B. Aberdeen, M.R.C.S.L.

THE MEDICAL SCHOOL, ROYAL BELFAST ACADEMICAL INSTITUTION.

Anatomy was taught for some years in a building in connection with the Royal Belfast Academical Institution. In 1835 a regular School was formed with the following staff of Professors:

- Anatomy and Physiology.—James L. Drummond, M.D. Edin.
- Surgery.—Thomas Ferrar, M.D.
- Midwifery.—Robert Little, M.B. Dubl., L.R.C.S.I.
- Chemistry.—Thomas Andrews, M.D. Edin.

Botany.—William Martin.

Ferrar was soon replaced by Robert Coffey, M.D. Glasg., L.R.C.S. Edin., and the teaching staff was completed by the addition of Henry MacCormac, M.D., L.R.C.S. Edin.

Dr. MacCormac, who graduated in Edinburgh in 1824, and whose works are so well known, was the last survivor of the above lecturers. About 1840 William Burden, M.D. Glasg., succeeded Little in the Midwifery Chair, and William Mateer, M.D., was appointed Professor of Botany, vice Martin. In 1845 Alexander Gordon, M.D. Edin., L.R.C.S. Edin., was appointed Demonstrator and, subsequently, Professor of Anatomy. The School, which had a fair measure of success, became extinct on the institution of the Medical School of the Queen's College.

Corrigenda

Memoirs of Professors Story, Duffey, and Lapper appeared in the Chapter on the Lecturers in the Private Schools in the First Edition. They still appear in that Chapter in the present Edition, but should have been transferred to the Chapter on the College Professors.

The list of the members of the Phagocytes Dining Club given at page 41, includes the name of Sir John Lentaigne. His death occurred (see page 538) after the names went to press. Sir John’s name occurs at page 123 as Surgeon to the Lord Lieutenant’s Household; he has been succeeded by Sir Arthur Chance. [The Dinners of the College have been suspended until the termination of the War.]

Dr. Houston died on the 26th November, 1915, a few days after being informed of the death of one of his sons, who was killed in the Great War. His Memoir (see page 603) went to press before his death.

Page 642—Professor Traven Smith was elected after a large proportion of the book had been printed. His name does not appear in alphabetical order.

Professor A. H. White died since his memoir went to press (see page 644).

Memoir of Dr. Grimshaw (see page 749). Since this memoir went to press, his son, Erving Wrigley, was killed in action on the 21st January, 1916. He was promoted to be Lieutenant-Colonel shortly before his death. Another son, Cecil T., was killed in action in the previous year.

Miss Holliday, having resigned the position of Assistant Librarian in order to study Medicine, has been succeeded by Miss Dorothy Coote.
