Sir Charles A. Cameron Presidential Badge

1 badge

Sir Charles A. Cameron (1830-1921) Presidential Badge. Seven pointed star badge with red and gold bow button attachment. Each point contains a white sapphire. The centre of the star contains the old College coat of arms and the College motto 'Consilio manque' in enamel and gold lettering. Accompanied the original box from West & Son, Jewellers and Silversmiths, Grafton House, Dublin.
Manuscript inscription on box reads 'This badge belonged to Sir Charles Cameron. The College of Surgeons' old coat of arms and motto 'Consilio manque' are enamelled on it. The stones are either paste or white sapphire. It was probably used as a Presidential Badge. Presented in 1948 by Major Stanley, Windsor Ave., Belfast, whose wife was a daughter of Sir Charles'. Manuscript inscription on side of box reads 'This badge was intronced [sic] by Austin Meldon, P.R.C.S.I 1889'. Original box can be located in RCSI Heritage Collections, Mercer Library.

Catalogue No.	Description	Date
RCSI/IP/Cameron/3/2	Item Sir Charles A. Cameron's Freedom Box 1 artefact Sir Charles A. Cameron's Freedom Box containing the Freedom of the City scroll awarded to Cameron by the Dublin Corporation. An Irish Arts and Crafts Freedom Box that was presented to Sir Charles Cameron (RCSI President 1885-1886) to house the Freedom of the City scroll he had been awarded by Dublin Corporation in 1910. The rectangular box is quite large and heavy as it is made from brass, copper, coloured marble and semi-precious stones. Hidden inside is a compartment that is released by pressing a concealed lock. Housed within this compartment is the beautifully illuminated silk-mounted scroll which still retains its splendid bright colours. The award ceremony took place the following year on 20th February 1911 in City Hall.	1910 - 1911
